Statue of a mourning woman which has probably surmounted a tomb. Attic work of the fourth century B.C. (?) At a later period the figure seems to have been repaired and re-used and the name of a Roman lady (Publia) Maxima daughter of Sextilius Clemens (?) lightly engraved on the upper part of the face of the plinth. From the collection of the Duke of Sutherland and at Trentham Hall. Purchased at the Trentham

Sale 1907.
